

Historic, archived document

Do not assume content reflects current scientific knowledge, policies, or practices.

1.9
734

LIBRARY
RECEIVED
FEB 15 1942
U. S. DEPT. OF AGRICULTURE

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Bureau of Agricultural Economics

-O-

Agricultural Economics Bibliography No. 37

ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF COUNTRY LIFE

Seleted References

Compiled by Louise O. Bercaw
Under the Direction of Mary G. Lacy, Librarian
Bureau of Agricultural Economics

-O-

Washington, D. C.
May 1932.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

County of []

vs.

[]

ASSAULT AND BATTERY

[]

[]

vs.

[]

ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF COUNTRY LIFE

Selected References

Compiled by Louise O. Bercaw

Under the Direction of Mary G. Lacy, Librarian

Bureau of Agricultural Economics

This short list, which makes no claim to completeness, is an attempt to list references to material published since 1920, comparing the advantages and disadvantages of city and country life, with the emphasis on country life. It is a revision of a shorter typewritten list entitled, Advantages and Disadvantages of Farm Life, issued in January, 1932. Since a number of the publications listed relate the experiences and opinions of persons who live in the country or in the suburbs of a city but who are not dependent upon farming for a living, the title has been changed to Advantages and Disadvantages of Country Life.

No attempt has been made to include references to books on the farm problem, or books of fiction, poetry, essays, and the like, all of which are suggested as sources of additional material. A few bibliographies which may prove useful to the student who wishes to go into the subject more fully are listed on p. 26-27.

References were taken from the card catalogue of this library, the Agricultural Index, the Experiment Station Record, and the Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature.

American Country Life Association.

Farm income and farm life; a symposium on the relation of the social and economic factors in rural progress, prepared by a joint committee. Dwight Sanderson, chairman and editor. John H. Kolb, H. L. Wilson, representing the American Country Life Association. Andrew Boss, F. D. Farrell, O. G. Lloyd, representing the American Farm Economic Association. Published by means of a grant from the Institute of Social and Religious Research. 324 p. New York, Published by the University of Chicago Press for the American Country Life Association. 1927. 231.2 Am34F

Ch. II is on the fundamental values of farm life and contains articles by Eugene Davenport, E. R. Eastman, and L. L. Bernard.

Anderson, Mrs. E. M.

Is city life superior? Hoard's Dairyman 63(4):84. Aug. 8, 1924. 44.8H65

The writer thinks that the comforts and conveniences of city life are over-rated.

Atkeson, M. M.

A countrywoman speaks. Pictorial Rev., 31:1. Mar. 1930.

The farm woman of today has a new point of view. She still wants her children to grow up to live in the country but she wants them to have better schools and better conveniences than she has had.

Atkeson, M. M.

The woman on the farm. 331 p. New York and London, The Century Co. [1924] 281.2 At5

The Truth about Country Life, ch. XIV, p. 299-319.

Atkeson, M. M.

Women in farm life and rural economy. Ann. Amer. Acad. Polit. and Social Sci. 143(232):188-194. May, 1929. 280.9 Am34

The subtopics of this article are: the source of agricultural income in the past, work performed by women of American farms, the work outlook for farm women in the future, spending the farm income, and why the farm woman moves to town.

B., W. A.

Confessions of a would-be farmer. Rural New Yorker 85:925-926. June 19, 1926. 6R88

This article is written in answer to an article by John Smith, entitled, The Price of An Hour's Work, published in the Rural New Yorker, July 25, 1925.

"I have tried to show that while a mechanic gets good wages it is not all gold that glitters, and a man's wages carry about the same ratio to lard, butter and meat as they did 25 years ago... I would rather live on the farm and take my chances with frost and hail, etc., than to live in the city with the chance of being out of work and all the hardships of the city, and I have observed that the city wants youth and strength, and you see the old men turned down on every hand, while in the country the old folks all have a chance."

Bailey, L. H.

The harvest of the year to the tiller of the soil. 209p. New York, The Macmillan Co. 1927. 30.4 B15H

"Part 1 of this book by the dean of American agriculturists is entitled 'The Situation' and is a philosophical commentary on the problems of modern agriculture...

"Part 2, entitled 'Incomes' is a veritable prose poem on the satisfactions that come from agriculture as an occupation..." E. E. Edwards in Agriculture in the Life of the Nation; A Selected List of References.

Chapter XXV, p.196-209, gives the replies of 129 farmers to the question, What is the main satisfaction you find in the Farmer's life?

Bernard, L. L.

Fundamental values of farm life. So. Atlantic Quart. 27:142-160.
Apr. 1928.

The writer discusses the fundamental values of farm life which he says are mainly spiritual.

Boyle, J. E.

Rural problems in the United States. 142p. Chicago, A. C. McClurg & Co. 1921. 281.2 B69

For disadvantages of rural life see ch. III, p. 21-37, Rural Conditions and Rural Needs. Other chapters on rural institutions--the home, the school, etc.,--contain material on both the advantages and disadvantages of rural life.

Brickell, B. G.

"Faith of our fathers!" Breeder's Gaz. 92:765, Oct. 1927. 49B74
A farmer's wife makes some neighborly calls around Hereford home farm, and finds her neighbors contented and happy in their farm life.

Browning, C. F.

Lessons I have learned from the country. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 45:39. Jan. 1924. 80 C832

Among the lessons learned in the country by the author were greater self dependence, the evils of procrastination, the value of remaining calm in the face of trying situations, and that there is time for reading and planning for the future.

Burr, Walter.

The best place to live. The American farm--and here's the proof. Country Gent. 89(37):3-4,24. Sept. 13, 1924. 6C833

Burr, Walter.

Reselling rural America. Country Gent. 95(4):27,154,162. Apr. 1930. 6C833

The writer shows that the idea of Rural America as a good place in which to live is being successfully sold to the world.

Butterworth, J. E.

Educational resources of country life. Nat. Ed. Assoc. Jour. Proc. 62(1924):730-738. 275.9 N21.

Campbell, Macy

Rural life at the crossroads. 482p. Boston, New York [etc.] Ginn & Co. 1927. 281 C152 Ch. II, The Keepers of the Land, p.20-46. See also Ch. XIV, The Hardest Task and the Poorest Tools, p.257-273.

Canfield, Dorothy.

Why should anybody live in the country. Country Gent. 89(48): 23,26. Nov. 29, 1924. 60833.

This is the first of a series of articles by Dorothy Canfield, in which she tells why people live in the country. Other articles in the series are, Beauty in Daily Lives (Country Gent. 89(50):19,22. Dec. 13, 1924); and Pilgrim Father Stuff (Country Gent. 89(52):23. Dec. 27, 1924.)

Carrick, A. Van L.

"Up in a villa, down in a city." Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 44(6):48. Oct. 1923. 800832.

The writer tells why she finds happiness in country life.

Carson, Velma.

The Country gentlewoman; the recompenses of the coal-oil lamp. Country Gent. 91(10):30,114. Oct. 1926. 60833.

Carver, T. N.

Elements of rural economics. 266p. Boston, New York [etc.] Ginn & Co. [1924] 231 C25E.

The Farmer and His Work, ch. V, p.86-110; Why Prosperous Farmers Leave the Country. p.247-249.

Casement, D. D.

Why I am a farmer and a stockman. Breeder's Gaz. 80:722,777,779, 780.

The advantages of being a stockman.

Clark, W. H.

"You can't drag us back to the city", say these New Yorkers who moved to the "Sticks." Amer. Mag. 111:58-59,136,138. Jan. 1931.

Cook, L. L.

Living in the country all year. Country Life [Garden City, N.Y.] 47(2):66. Dec. 1924. 800832.

The advantages of living in the country.

Cook, O. F.

City and country. Effects of human environments on the progress of civilization. Jour. Heredity 12:110-116, 167-173. Mar.-Apr. 1921. 442.8 Am3

Crowell, C. T.

Why the youngfolks leave the farm. Independent 101:237-238, 260-261. Feb. 14, 1920.

Young people leave the farm, not only for economic reasons, but because there are so many restrictions thrown around pleasure in the country.

Croy, Homer.

Why I left the farm. Looking back, I can say it was a good thing for me and also for the farm. Country Gent. 91(4):14,61. Apr. 1926. 6C833

A farmer's son tells why he was successful in the city and his brother successful in the country.

Curtiss, Philip.

Broadway from my farmhouse window. Amer. Mag. 100:20-31,76, 78, 80, 82, 84. Dec. 1925.

A writer of stories of Broadway life tells why he lives on a farm.

Davenport, E.

Shall I leave the farm? Let's match the city's lure against the things the land offers. Country Gent. 89(10):15, 46, 47. Mar. 8, 1924. 6C833

Dunn, A. B.

Poor, lonely and isolated! Yet life on a ranch has its wonderful compensations which enable the mistress of Bogacres to greet you with a "happy new year." Breeder's Gaz. 96(1):6,24. Jan.1931. 49B74

"Isolation. A word from which the fangs have been drawn. For it I have learned to substitute privacy, freedom, security... Such compensations vastly outweigh the lack of a few urban advantages."

Dunnack, H. E.

Rural life in Maine. 165p. Augusta, Maine State Library. 1928.

"This study is offered as a contribution to conserving rural life with its old time traditions, its independence, and its spirit."

The preface, and the chapters, Farming and Rural Life, Health and Rural Life, and Education and Rural Life should be consulted.

Dyer, W. A.

Living on a farm. Country Life [Garden City, N.Y.] 45:59-60. Feb. 1924. 80 C832.

The writer, who does not make a living by tilling the soil, lives on an 80-acre farm in rural New England. His farm is "not a business, but a home", but it is "very largely a self-supporting home."

Dyer, W. A.

Some rewards of country living. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 44:50. June, 1923. 80 C832.

The writer and his wife live on a farm because they like the farm atmosphere, the independence, the wholesome environment, its constantly varying and absorbing occupations, its nearness to nature, and its many other qualities, particularly the "everpresent consciousness of a direct contact with the vital and the divine."

Dyer, W. A.

This farm of mine; I want to be a countryman. Century 114(6): 739-744. Oct. 1927.

The rewards of living in the country as seen by a former city man who is now a countryman but not a farmer, in the strictest sense of the word.

Dyer, W. A.

The vision splendid. Nation 116:569-570. May 16, 1923.

The writer reaches the conclusion, that, on the whole, "the most thrilling moment in life, so far as reaction to beauty is concerned, is the moment when a bluebird flashes through the blossoming branches of an apple tree on a bright morning in May."

Eastman, E. R.

These changing times; a story of farm progress during the first quarter of the twentieth century. 257p. New York, The Macmillan Co. 1927. 281.2 Ea72

See Ch. XVIII, The Farm Woman- Yesterday and Today, p.214-219; Ch. XX, The Future - Would You Advise a Young Man to Farm? p.229-236; and Ch. XXI, Can A Farmer Be Happy? p.237-245.

Eaton, W. P.

What I get out of the country. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 43(6):46-47. Apr. 1923. 80 C832.

Ebling, W. H.

The land of peace and promise. Hoard's Dairyman 68(23):691-692. Dec. 19, 1924. 44.8 H65.

"To the farm boy who faces the world with his whole life before him, one can only say:

"Study carefully the things that are offered by that old home farm. Overlook not those deep satisfactions which enriched the lives of the patient builders who have gone before us. Hold fast to the things that are good, lest they be lost through the distant lure of false lights and glittering hollows of high vibration which seldom are what they seem..."

Emerson, Haven, and Phelps, E. B.

The influence of urban and rural environment. In Cowdry, E. V., ed. Human biology and racial welfare, p.348-378. New York, P. B. Hoeber (Inc.) 1930. 442 C834H

An abridgement of this chapter was published in The Survey (Graphic No.) 62(9):469-472,505,507. Aug. 1, 1929, with title, The City Gains on the Country.

Compares the influence of environment on the death rates and the expectation of life of rural and urban residents. Modern municipal sanitation, the atmosphere, water supplies, foods, light, insects, and personal contact are the environmental factors discussed.

F., Mrs. G.

Happy where we are. Dakota Farmer 47(16):708. Aug. 15, 1927. 6 D14.

A letter to the Dakota Farmer from a farmer's wife who, with her family, was glad to get back to the farm after a year in town.

Farrell, G. E.

Forces making farm life attractive. Bur. Farmer 6:12:16 [Febr. ed.];12 [Pa. and Wyo. ed.];13 [Wash. ed.] Apr. 1931. 280.82 B39.

Farmer's Wife.

Do you want your daughter to marry a farmer? What farm women think about farm life as told by readers of the Farmer's wife. 470. St. Paul, Minn., Webb Publishing Co. 1922. 281.2 F22

Contains the 68 prize-winning letters in a contest participated in by 7,000 farm women and sponsored by the Farmer's Wife.

Farrell, F. D.

Rural rewards. Successful Farming 27(12):7, 82-83. Dec. 1929. 6 S12

Among the rewards of rural life are the beauties of nature, wholesome living, opportunity for solitude, and spiritual satisfaction.

Fayerweather, M. D.

Farmer's wife looks at life, and looking, finds it good. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 56:63-69, 126. July, 1929. 80 C832.

Fraser, W. J.

No depression in real values of farm life. Slump in prices of agricultural products challenges rural people to weigh other benefits of farm life as well as to reduce costs. Hoard's Dairymen 76(24):832. Dec. 25, 1931. 44.8 H65.

Frederick, Christine.

Is suburban living a delusion? Outlook, 148:290-291, 513. Feb. 22, 1928. Same, condensed in Review of Reviews, 77:428-430. Apr. 1928.

"The suburb is a makeshift, and as such has its place, especially in slum eradication; but for the art of living by individuals it is to my way of thinking, a double-dyed falsity."

Galpin, C. J.

Analysis of migration of population to and from farms. 45p. U. S. Dept. Agr., Bur. Agr. Econ., Div. Farm Population and Rural Life, 1927. Mimeographed. 1.9 Ec763An

Galpin, C. J.

The country--the economic basis of national life. Jour. Rural Ed. 4(1):1-5. Sept. 1924. 275.8 J82.

"An address delivered before the annual meeting of the Department of Rural Education of the National Education Association, Washington, D. C. July 3, 1924."

Also issued in mimeographed form by the Division of Farm Population and Rural Life, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

Galpin, C. J.

Farm or city? Read what men and women who have left the city for the country say about it. Bur. Farmer [Ill. ed.] 5(3):16. Nov. 1929. 280.82 B39.

Galpin, C. J.

Free sunlight, air, space and quiet for the family. Red Cross Courier 6(22):15-16. Nov. 15, 1927. Pam. Coll.

The advantages of farm life and the farm family as outlined here "apply more or less to the village and small city life."

Galpin, C. J.

Gentlemen preferring farms. Rural America 7(8):5-6. Oct. 1929. 281.28 C83.

This is from a radio address.

[Galpin, C. J.]

Life on the farm and in the city. In town adults work with inanimate things--country the region of vitality and children. Bur. Farmer [Penn. ed.] 4:23. Jan. 1929. 280.82 B39.

Reprinted from the New York Times. A report of an address by Dr. C. J. Galpin to Missouri State Teachers' Association.

Galpin, C. J.

Returning to the farm; thousands of people who deserted the rural districts are going back home and they cite various reasons for doing so... Natl. Repub. 16(12):20-21. Apr. 1929. Pam. Coll.

Galpin, C. J.

Rural and urban life in America. Address ... at Commencement, State agricultural college of Colorado, June 7, 1923. 8p. Washington, D. C., U. S. Dept. Agr. Bur. Agr. Econ. 1923. Mimeographed. 1:9 Ec763Ru.

Some advantages of farm life, p.1-3.

Galpin, C. J.

Rural social problems. 236p. New York and London, The Century Co. [1924] 281.2 G13R.

For advantages and disadvantages of farm life see Ch. XII, p.166-182, Defending Farm Life. See also Ch. XI, p.150-165, Replanning the City as a Place Not to Live In.

Gardner, E. C.

Cost of country life. North Amer. Rev. 233:XII, XVI. Apr. 1932.

In this article, which is a reply to an article in the March North American Review, the writer tells how cheaply she can live in her Connecticut village.

Gaumnitz, W. H.

Some comparative statistics of public school education in urban and rural urban communities. U.S. Off. Ed., Rural School Circ. 27, 5p. 1928. Mimeographed.

Not seen.

Gee, Wilson.

Rural-urban heroism in military action. Social Forces 10(1):102-111. Oct. 1931. 280.3 J823.

This is a study of the comparative bravery in military action of the rural and urban populations of the United States.

Gillette, J. M.

Rural sociology. Rev. ed., 574p. New York, The Macmillan Co. 1928. 281.2 G41R.

References at end of chapters.

Chapters 4, 6-8, 18, 21, and 25 deal with the distinctive character of society, characteristics and movements in the rural population, backward and anti-social classes, rural health and sanitation, farm women and the home, declining villages of America, and mitigating rural isolation, respectively.

The index should be consulted for additional items of interest.

Goodman, Myrwood.

The farmer versus the professional man. Quart. Alpha Zeta [Marshal, Ill.] 27(4):10-11. Dec. 1931. Pam. Coll.

This article was written by a high school student of Del Norte, Colorado, and is the prize-winning essay "presented in the annual essay contest managed by the Centennial Chapter of Alpha Zeta, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colorado. The participants choose their own topics, which must be on some phase of agriculture. The awards are made at the high school judging contest held at the college during the spring vacation."

Goodwin, F. D.

Beyond city limits; a study of the relation of the church to rural life. 203p. New York, The Natl. Council. 1926. 281.2 C63.

Ch. I, Fundamental Value of Rural Life, p.1-17; Ch. II, The New Rural Life in America, p.18-49.

Haight, M. T.

The call of the country. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 44(4): 35-36. Aug. 1923. 80 C832.

On the joys of living in the country, by a person once ordered to live there because of ill health.

Hard, Anne.

Will Eva go back? Country Gent. 92(4):31, 108. Apr. 1927. 6C833

What a farm woman misses in leaving the farm for the city.

Harger, C. H.

What's the matter with farm health? Outlook 130:507-508. Mar. 29, 1922. Same condensed, Literary Digest 73:35-36. May 13, 1922.

Hargreaves, S. C.

Enjoying the real things of life and giving the children the right start. House Beautiful 47(4):322, 350, 352. Apr. 1920.

A city family, who found the problem of bringing up their boys in a city a very real one, moved to a house on an acre of land at the end of a city car line. The writer enumerates the advantages of living on their "near farm."

Harris, Evelyn.

I married a farm. Scribner's Mag. 87(1):75-82. Jan. 1930.

Mrs. Harris, born a city woman, but now a farmer, "relates some of the evils and advantages of living on a farm."

Hart, Henrietta.

Spirit of country living. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.]
44:50. Sept. 1925. 80 C832

The writer's family, who were forced to move from the city, found happiness in a suburban town.

Hartman, Mrs. W. J.

"Why I like the farm." Breeder's Gaz. 78:1094. Nov. 25, 1920.
49 B74.

A Montana farm wife tells why she likes farm life.

Hatch, K. L.

Forces making farm life attractive. Ext. Serv. Rev. 2(11):169,
170. Nov. 1931. 1Ex892Ex

Five forces at work to increase the attractiveness of farm life are power, transportation, leisure, beauty, and a steady job.

Hawthorn, H. B.

The sociology of rural life. 517p. New York and London, The Century Co. [1925] 281.2 H31.

References at end of chapters.

See particularly Ch. V, The Standard of Living in the Country in its Social Aspect, and Ch. VII, The Population Factor. For additional material consult the index.

Hayes, A. W.

Rural sociology. 598p. New York, London [etc.] Longmans, Green & Co. 1929. 281.2 H32

Topics for discussion, subjects for investigation, references, p.535 - 589.

Contains chapters on economic factors, rural standards of life, rural leadership, rural family and home, rural education, rural social pathology and social service, rural health, etc.

Hermann, Ernst.

Might life in the country be equivalent to play apparatus? Bur.
Farmer [Mass. ed.] 5(12):20. Aug. 1930. 280.82 B89.

"... farm life can easily be made superior in educational opportunities to any kind of play...

"When the people in the country have once fully realized the need of social activities and recreational games, plays and sports, when they have overcome the unnecessary drudgery, the farmer's son will continue to run the farm. When that time comes even the physical training profession will admit that nature's physical education beats all man-made exercises!"

Hewins, K. P.

Illegitimacy in rural community. Survey 46:305-306,307. June 4, 1921. 280.8 C37.

This is the last of three articles by Miss Hewins, "interpreting the federal Children's Bureau report on Illegitimacy as a Child Welfare Problem." [U. S. Children's Bureau Publications 66, 75, and 128.]

Hoffer, C. R.

Introduction to rural sociology. 418p. New York, Richard R. Smith, (Inc.) 1930. 281.2 H67.

Selected References at end of chapters.

Contains chapters on the rural standard of living, health, recreation, dependent and delinquent classes, the family, the school, etc.

Hopkins, L. D.

Why the farm woman stands by. Successful Farming 25(11):64-65, 36. Nov. 1927. 6 Su12.

"Not only her love for her husband, but the love of all things that go to make up her home, with its responsibilities" is the reason why the farm woman stands by.

Hunrichouse, H. H.

The greater freedom. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 45:47 Apr. 1924. 80 C832.

A lawyer tells why he spends part of the year at his country home about ten miles from Hagerstown.

Huntington, Ellsworth.

The sifting power of cities. Scribner's Mag. 80:316-324. Sept. 1926.

Israel, Henry.

Why farmers leave home. World Tomorrow 10(8):329-332. Aug. 1927.

Presents facts to show the economic, health, child labor, educational, and church inequalities between city and country.

Jenkins, T.R.

A city boy with a country heart. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 46:48. Aug. 1924. 80 C832.

"The more I see of the thousand and one beauties of the country year the more I pity those who still have to use the subway or the 'L' to reach their 8:30 counters or 9 o'clock desks."

Jewett, R. M.

Is the farm the place to live? Rural Amer. 5(1):5. Jan. 1927. 281.28 C83.

Briefly summarizes the 145 replies to a questionnaire sent out in order to learn the attitude toward the farm of young men and women brought up on a farm but now working in the city.

A summary of replies to a questionnaire concerning the attitude toward the farm of farm boys and girls is given in the November, 1926 issue (p.3-4) by E. L. Kirkpatrick and C. B. Smith. This article is entitled, 4-H Club Members Speak.

Jones, L. K.

The best business on earth; a glimpse of the other side. Successful Farming 24*i.e.*25(4):100, 102-103. Apr. 1932. 6Sul2.

The "best business on earth" is the growing of food to supply the millions of people who live in the cities. The unattractive side of crowded city life is pictured.

Jones, L. K.

Other half; some sidelights on life in a big city. Successful Farming 24*i.e.*25(12):12. Dec. 1926. 6 Sul2.

Shows that city people as well as country people have problems and that city people and country people are very much alike.

Kenyon, J. H.

City or country? Mountains or the sea? Good Housekeeping 81(1):98. July, 1925. 321.8 G61.

A doctor writes a short letter to the mothers of the Health and Happiness Club on the relative health values of the city, country, mountains and seashore for children.

Kirkpatrick, E. L.

Attitudes and problems of farm youth. U. S. Dept. Agr., Ext. Serv., Off. Coop. Ext. Work, Ext. Serv. Circ. 46,51p., 1927. Mimeographed. 1.9 Ex392Esc.

Presents data from replies to questionnaires sent in by 7,880 boys and girls. The plan of presentation of data is as follows:

"The first part of the plan of presentation of data is given over to a description of the status or conditions, the surroundings and the activities of the youth represented in the study. Following this, attention is centered on the attitudes of farm and village youths so far as these are revealed in expressions of like or dislike of farm or village as a place to live, choice of occupation as means of making a living, intention of continuing in school, and kind of college to be attended. Next, consideration is given to the reasons stated for like or dislike of farm or village life. Finally, attention is given to an interpretation of the data with especial reference to the influence of extension work on the attitudes of farm youth toward farming and farm life. Figures for the village youth represented in the study are included primarily for the comparisons which they afford.

"While only 227 questionnaires with answers to a part of the questions were obtained from colored farm youth, the results of the tabulation of this information are presented and brief comparisons are made in the latter pages of the report," p. 4-5.

Kirkpatrick, E.L.

The basic elements of rural culture. Rural Amer. 10(2):6-8. Feb. 1932. 281.28 C83.

Contains short statements from L. H. Bailey, C. J. Galpin, C. B. Smith, Ethel C. Morgan, and C. C. Taylor which "are indicative of some of the basic elements of rural life and culture."

Kirkpatrick, E. L.

The farmer's standard of living. 299p. New York and London, The Century Co. 1929. (The Century Rural Life Books). 284.4 K63.

Contains a chapter on the satisfactions of farming and farm life.

Kumlien, W. F.

What farmers think of farming. S. Dak. Agr. Expt. Sta. Bul. 223, 31 p. Brookings, 1927.

This study, which was made in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics, records the opinions of the 150 farm families of Arland and Clarno Townships, Lake County, South Dakota.

The farmer and his family seem to be fairly well satisfied with the farm as a home and as a mode of living, but not so satisfied with farming as a business. "Seventy-eight per cent of the farmers say that if they were starting over again they would farm. Some 93 per cent say that they want their sons to farm. None objected directly to their daughters marrying farmers if they wanted to. Slightly over 62 per cent are making a special effort to keep their children on the farm by trying to make farming more interesting, attractive and worth while.

"More significant yet is the fact that 79.9 per cent of the grown up children over 21 are engaged in farming and 89.2 per cent of the younger boys say they want to farm."

Lantis, L. O.

Rural community life. 375p. New York, Boston [etc.] American Book Co. [1930] 281.2 L29.

For advantages and disadvantages of country life see p.41-55. See also chapters on rural health and sanitation, home life in the country, etc.

Lay, C. D.

The freedom of the city. North Amer. Rev. 222:123-134. Sept. 1925.

The advantages of living in the city.

Lay, C. D.

My country kingdom. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 46:45-47. July, 1924. 80 C832.

Lemmon, R. S.

On coming to live in the country. Country Life [Garden City, N.Y.] 44:41-42. May, 1923. 80 C832.

The writer tells how he found health and happiness in the country.

Lewis, C. D.

The advantages of the rural child. Jour. Rural Ed. 4:453-455. May, 1925. 275.8 J82.

Advantages discussed are the nature environment, the constant sharing with the older members of the family the duties and responsibilities of life, and the advantages dealing with deferred rewards of labor and arising from the nature of rural home life.

Lingenfelter, W. H.

Farm or city? - your choice. All of the city's glitter is not gold; there is more than drudgery on farm. Agr. Rev. 19(9):6. Sept. 1926. 53.8 Ag8.

Lombard, H. L.

Illness in city and country. Survey 60:591-592. Sept. 15, 1928. 280.8 C37.

A comparison of illness in an urban and a farming community of Massachusetts.

Loomis, A. F.

Country as seen from the city. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 44:51. Aug. 1923. 80 C832.

"I ask but one thing of the country, and promise you but one thing from it--happiness."

Lundquist, G. A.

What farm women are thinking. Minn. Univ. Agr. Ext. Spec. Bul. 71, 24p. University Farm, St. Paul, 1923.

"The replies of 892 farm women of Minnesota to a questionnaire calling forth their views upon the production unit on the farm and the human and social unit are presented here. The average size of farms reported approximates very closely that of the average farm in the State. Of the answers received, 800 were in the affirmative as to the favorable human and social aspects of country life."-Expt. Sta. Rec. 50:393. 1924.

Lundquist, G. A., and Moore, C. B.

Rural social science. Boston, New York [etc.] Ginn & Co. [1929], 483p. 281.2 L974R

The Advantages and Disadvantages of Rural Life, Ch. XIV, p. 131-140. See also the chapter on rural and urban death rates, p. 141-149; advantages and disadvantages of rural homes, p. 190-193; and the index for additional subjects of interest.

Lundquist, G. A., and Carver, T. M.

Principles of rural sociology. 484p. Boston, New York [etc.] Ginn & Co. [1927] 281.2 L974.

References at end of chapters.

"The aim of this book is to show how rural conditions, especially those in the United States, have come to be what they are...To make clear the status of the rural dweller, comparisons with urban centers have been made repeatedly. This method has a twofold advantage: (1) the rural dweller may compare his own position with that of the urban dweller, and (2) city people may learn that the condition of country people is not as it is often pictured." Preface.

McCormick, T. C.

Rural intelligence and college achievement. Sociol. and Social Research 16(3):259-266. Jan.-Feb. 1952.

A summary of this study as given on p. 265-266 follows:

"Our study indicates that the rural students, with little more effort, equal the scholastic achievement of the urban students in the East Central Oklahoma Teachers College. It is the unanimous opinion of Oklahoma educators that the preparatory training of the rural students is much inferior to that of the urban students. A careful inquiry failed to establish a probability that the rural college students are more highly selected in mental ability than are the urban college students. In the face of these results, it may be said that this investigation gives no support to the theory of rural mental inferiority in the population of east central Oklahoma."

McDiarmid, Allan.

Proper view of farm life. Farmer's Advocate and Home Mag. 55: 442. Mar. 11, 1920. 7 F22.

McDowell, J. C.

Is farm life worth living? Hoard's Dairyman 62:673,687. Dec. 25, 1921. 44.8 H65.

"Farm life is a life of drudgery to the man who does not use his head and we must admit that, on such a farm, life is not worth living. Drudgery is adapted only to the man with a strong back and a weak mind. Modern farming methods demand men with healthy bodies and keen brains."

McGarr, Llewellyn.

The rural community. 239p. New York, The Macmillan Co. 1922.
281.2 M17.

References at end of chapters.

Contrasts Between Urban and Rural Districts, Ch. II, p. 18-35.

McKee, W. D.

Quitters and stickers. Pity the farmer who auctions off his place and moves to the city. Country Gent. 90(3):8, 40. Jan. 17, 1925.
6 C833.

McMillen, Wheeler.

Cities are out of date. Rural Amer. 10(2):3. Feb. 1932. 281.28
C83.

Urges the decentralization of industry and its extension to the rural districts as a relief measure since the small towns and the rural districts can offer equal and sometimes superior industrial advantages to those of the cities.

Mathews, I. J.

Romance of life in the country; a side of farm life that too many fail to see. Successful Farming 24*[i.e. 25]*(12):7, 68-69. Dec. 1926.
6 S12.

Morris, J. S.

Wayside musings: the lure of the distant - the unattractiveness of the near. Hoard's Dairyman 71(16):717. July 10, 1926. 44.8 H65.

The writer believes that farm people are happier in their "natural, harder, less aesthetic life of the country than those whose lives are jammed into the narrow grooves of modern city life."

Morse, Sherman.

Some dividends that the country has paid me. Country Life [Gar- den City, N. Y.] 44:61-62. July, 1923. 80 C832.

Murphy, J. F.

Health and happiness in the country. Country Life [Garden City,
N. Y.] 47:47. Nov. 1924. 80 C832.

National Country Life Conference.

Farm youth. Proceedings of the ninth national country life conference, Washington, D. C., 1926. 153p. New York, Published by the University of Chicago Press for the American Country Life Association
[1927] 281.2 M213.

As a Student Sees Farm Life, by Laura Amos, p. 20-24; The Intangibles in Farm Life, by Paul Sanders, p. 25-28.

Oosterhous, A. G.

Our food supply. 247 p., illus. Appleton, Wis. C. C. Nelson Publishing Co. 1929. (Exploratory Science Series) 30.2 0o5

Helpful readings at end of chapters.

This book is a textbook for grammar and junior high school grades. For advantages and disadvantages of farming see p. 57-62.

Osgood, W. D.

Farming as seen by a farmer. Rural New Yorker, 89:477. Apr. 5, 1930. 6 R88.

"The taking side of farming is largely in what conduces to interest; and there is no farm crop or animal that is not contributory to interest."

Phelan, John.

Readings in rural sociology. 632p. New York, The Macmillan Co. 1920. 231.2 P51.

Bibliography at end of chapters.

Contains many selections of interest, such as The Point of View in Comparisons of City and Country Conditions, by K. L. Butterfield; The Influence of Farm Life on Childhood, by C. W. Elliot; City is Healthier for Children than the Country, by T. D. Wood; The Extent of Feeble-mindedness in Rural and Urban Communities in New Hampshire; Rural Housing, by E. S. Forbes; etc.

Phelos, W. L.

The country or the city? "Cultivate your garden" was good advice, but there are gardens in penthouses as well as in the country. North Amer. Rev. 231(2):120-122. Feb. 1931.

The writer takes exception to George W. Russell's (A.E.) fear that lust for life in cities will cause our so-called civilization to perish.

Phillips, H. I.

Two years in the open spaces drove me back to town. Amer. Mag. 101:50-51, 92, 94. Jan. 1926.

On the disadvantages of suburban life.

Putnam, G. M.

Out where the sidewalk ends. New Hampshire Troubadour, May, 1932. Published by the New Hampshire State Development Commission.

Not seen. This article was noted in the American Farm Bureau Weekly News Letter, 11(20):4. May 17, 1932. "In the fact that youth is returning to the farm," Mr. Putnam, "sees the turning point in New England progress." He summarizes "The evidence as to why the better New Hampshire farmer is far better off than his city neighbor and concludes with the thought that the farmer is a free citizen."

Quick, Herbert.

There's more to farm life than corn and hogs. Country Gent.
39(13):13. Mar. 29, 1924. 6 C833

"Economically, farm life, with all the injustices which press down upon it has compensations which to the family accustomed to it far outweigh the advantages, some real, some fancied, of the cities."

Rapeer, L. W.

Rural health v. city health. Amer. School Bd. Jour. 60(2):35, 36, 115. 1920. 275.8 Am32.

"Information from various investigations and summaries of statistics is briefly reviewed and shown to indicate relatively greater defects among children in the country than in the city. The consolidated rural school is said to be an important factor for the improvement of health conditions, principally by educating communities to carry out health programs and require the services of agencies for general health improvement."-Expt. Sta. Rec. 46:294. 1922.

Replier, Agnes.

Town and the suburb. Yale Rev. n. s. 18:278-289. Dec. 1928.

Roosevelt, F. D.

Back to the land. Review of Reviews 84(4):63-64. Oct. 1931.

Figures show that for New York State, and, to a slight extent, the United States there is in progress a definite back-to-the-land movement. This trend "probably will... accentuate the unemployment problem in the small communities. On the other hand, it undoubtedly simplifies the problem of food and shelter for many thousands of people, and makes it less difficult and expensive to care for them." We do not need to take men out of industry to put them to farming, but "is it not possible that we might devise methods by which the farmer's market may be brought closer to him, and the industrial worker be brought closer to his food supply?" "Circumstances indicate that more factories will be established in smaller communities and in agricultural regions. Social considerations have had a large part in keeping workers in the city," but the advantages of city life today are less, comparatively, than they were ten years ago. And they will continue to grow less, for city conveniences are rapidly being brought to the country."

Ross, E. A.

Contributions of rural life to the nation. Rural Amer. 9(4):5-6.
Apr. 1931. 281.28 C83.

Briefly contrasts farm and city life with respect to marriage, size of family, family life, religion, thrift, etc.

Sawtelle, E. H.

The advantages of farm life. A study by correspondence and interviews with eight thousand farm women. Digest of an unpublished manuscript. 29p. Washington, D. C., U. S. Dept. Agr. Bur. Agr. Econ. Div. Farm Population and Rural Life. March, 1924. Mimeographed.
1.9 Ec763Ad

The author undertook this study with the object of reporting in the actual words of farm women their attitude toward farm life and of showing up as misrepresentative the popular one-sided conception of country life. Material presented is grouped according to three sides of farm life, the work side, the social side, and the home side.

Schmiedeler, Edgar.

The industrial revolution and the home. A comparative study of family life in country, town, and city... 161p. Washington, D. C. 1927. 324 Sch5

Thesis (Ph.D.) Catholic University of America.

Bibliography, p.150-154.

This study of 150 families was made in a western state during the summer of 1926. The theme is developed under the captions of work, play, housing, environment and religion.

Schmiedeler, Edgar.

Town and country families. Commonweal 15:487-489. Mar. 2, 1932.

Contrasts city and country family life and shows that "the rural family institution is more highly organized and less disintegrated than is the city family institution."

Shepard, W. P., and Diehl, H. S.

Rural and urban health: II. A comparison of past diseases in university students from rural and urban districts. Jour. Indus. Hyg. 7(11):481-490. Nov. 1925. 449.8 J823.

Bibliography. p. 489-490.

"The observations on which this study is based were made at the Students' Health Service of the University of Minnesota."

Part I of this study was published in the Journal of the American Medical Association v.83, Oct. 11, 1924. p. 1117-1123, and is entitled, Rural and Urban Health. A Comparison of Physical Defects in University Students from Rural and Urban Districts.

Shideler, E. H.

Modern social problems; an elementary study of American social life and institutions...Text for senior high schools, normal schools and junior colleges. 306p. Ann Arbor, Mich., Mimeographed and printed by Edwards Bro. 1927. 230 Sh6.

References for further reading and study, at end of chapters.

Ch. XV, The American City and City Life, p. 204-224. See particularly sections - Aspects and features of the life of the city man, and Some problems of our modern city.

Ch. XVI, American Rural Life and Problems, p. 225-246. See particularly sections on the advantages of country life, country life optimism, etc.

Sims, N. E.

Elements of rural sociology. 698p. New York, T. Y. Crowell Co. [1928] (Crowell's Social Science Series) 281.2 Si5E.

Selected bibliography at end of chapters.

For comparisons between rural and city people see chapters on physical characteristics, mental characteristics, rural family, rural play and recreation, etc.

Smith, W. C.

Rural mind; a study in occupational attitude. Amer. Jour. Sociol. 32:771-786. Mar. 1927. 280.8 Am3.

"There is a difference between the characteristic socio-psychic traits of rural and urban dwellers. The causes of these differences may be considered from four points of view: (1) selection, (2) isolation, (3) domestication, and (4) occupation. The occupational activities are fundamental in the development of attitudes and, since rural occupational conditions are so far different from those of the city, the differences between the two groups may be largely accounted for in this way." - Abstract, p. 771.

Sorokin, Pitirim, and Zimmerman, C. C.

Principles of rural-urban sociology. 652p. New York, H. Holt & Co. [1929] (American Social Science Series) 281.2 S66.

Bibliographical footnotes.

This book, "does not try to 'preach' and does not bother itself with any evaluation of what is good and bad in rural life" and "does not stress 'the sympathetic attitude' of the authors regarding rural life" but it does contain much material on the comparative health, predominant diseases, suicides, longevity and mortality, birth-rates and vitality, marriage and the family, intelligence, criminality, morality, intemperance, etc., of both city and country people.

Stafford, H. S.

The content of the country. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 54:41-43. July, 1928. 80 C832.

The joys of living in the country.

Steward, Ann.

Country life - the only life. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 45:49. Nov. 1923. 80 C832.

The writer's family finds happiness in a village just outside the city limits.

Swift, E. L.

In defense of suburbia; a reply to "Is suburban living a delusion?"
[by Christine Frederick], Outlook 148:543-544, 553. Apr. 4, 1928.

Swift, M. B.

The contentment of country living. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 46:48. June, 1924. '80 C832.

The writer found health and contentment on a twenty-acre tract in Florida four miles from town.

Taylor, C. C.

Rural sociology; a study of rural problems. 509p. New York and London, Harper & Bro. 1926. 281.2 T21.

Farming as an enterprise, p. 48-49; Farm life as a desirable mode of living, p. 49-54.

See chapters on health, education, etc.

Taylor, C. C., and Frame, M. T., ed.

Urban-rural relations... 1. A syllabus for the eleventh conference of the American country life association upon "urban-rural relations" at Urbana, Illinois, June 19-21, 1928. 2. A handbook for leaders in Kiwanis clubs and other organizations interested in the betterment of urban-rural relations. 246p. Chicago, Ill., Kiwanis International [1928]. 281.2 T21U

Contains extracts from various publications on such subjects as urbanism or ruralism, is the city or the country the natural habitat of civilized man, standards of living, health, youth, etc.

Thompson, J. G.

Urbanization; its effects on government and society. 683p. New York, E. P. Dutton & Co. [1927] 280 T371.

References at end of chapters.

"This volume represents another attempt at an examination of the consequences of urbanization, as viewed primarily though not exclusively from the political point of view. "Preface, p. vii.

For quick reference consult the index under the subjects beginning rural.

Tilden, Freeman.

When I broke away from the city. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 44:44-45. June, 1923. '80 C832.

The writer tells why he has not regretted leaving the city for the country. "These things I speak of as being the rewards of living in the country, are all ... of the mind and the spirit."

Towne, C. H.

Why I never will leave the city again. Amer. Mag. 89(3):60-61, 97, 98, 100. 1920.

Tucker, R. S., and McCombs, C. E.

Is the country healthier than the town? Natl. Munic. Rev. 12: 291-295. June, 1923.

This is composed of two articles as follows: The Physique of the City Man Good in Spite of War Statistics, by R. S. Tucker; Rural Communities Suffer More from Preventable Diseases, by C. E. McCombs.

U. S. War Department.

Defects found in drafted men. Statistical information compiled from the draft records showing the physical condition of the men registered and examined in pursuance of the requirements of the selective-service act. Prepared under the direction of the Surgeon general, M. W. Ireland... by Albert G. Love... and Charles B. Davenport. 1663p. Washington, Govt. Print. Off. 1920. 152.1 D36.

For defects found in rural men and a comparison of defects in rural and urban men see pp. 276-283, 348-417, 1102-1213, 1228-1323, 1464-1643.

"Statistical information compiled from draft records of more than two million men of military age, is given in these pages. From the figures given, it appears that defects were found only seven-eighths as commonly in rural as in urban districts. Comparative tables and graphic representations are given. One table shows for the various defects the rural ratio divided by the urban for the whole United States, arranged in order of size of this ratio. Detailed tables noted in the appendix show distribution of defects and rejections for the earlier and later periods of the draft by States, physiographic, industrial, and population sections, and rural and urban districts."-Expt. Sta. Rec. 44:490. 1921.

Van Wagenen, M. J.

Comparative pupil achievement in rural, town, and city schools. A study conducted ... for the Department of education, State of Minnesota. 144p. Minneapolis, The University of Minnesota Press. 1929. 275 V38

Vogt, P. L.

Introduction to rural sociology. 457p. New York, London, D Appleton and Co. 1922. 281.2 V861.

This book "may be said to be a defense and a justification of rural life as well as an analysis."-U. S. Dept. Interior, Bur. Education, Reading Course No.22, rev. 1928, p.4.

Among the chapters of interest are those dealing with the farmer's labor income, rural health--physical and mental, rural morality, and the reverse side of the rural problem.

Vogt, P. L.

Where the brains remain. Rural Amer. 5(2):8-9. Feb. 1927.
281.28 C83.

Takes exception to a statement by Albert Edward Wiggam, in a recent issue of World's Work, "that the city is the source of American genius."

Walters, H. M.

Shall I move to town? Hoard's Dairyman 74(11):547. June 10, 1929. 44.8 H65.

Advises discouraged farmers to think twice before exchanging farm life for "a life of drudgery in a factory, with no future."

Wenz, A.

Contentment. Dakota Farmer. 41:337. Mar. 1, 1921. 6D14.

A picture of life on a ranch where the ranch people "have good cheer in every situation and a moment here and there for seeing the beauty around them and for hearing the music of life."

Wiggam, A. E.

Brains, and where they come from. I. Do they come from the city or country? World's Work 52(5):578-586. Sept. 1926. 110 W89.

The writer "disposes of the theory that most great leaders come from the rural districts."

Williams, W. C.

Why farmers move to town. Survey 48:609-610. Aug. 15, 1922.
280.8 C37.

The lack of educational facilities was the main reason given by the farmers of a middle western community for moving to town.

Willis, R. D.

Shall I quit the farm? Why one family is going to stick. Successful Farming 23*[i.e.]*24:13, 41. Feb. 1925. 6 S12.

Wilson, R. D.

Five years in the country. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 46:44. Oct. 1924. 80 C832.

The advantages of country life.

Winter, A. A.

They starve for beauty. Ladies Home Jour. 42(3):35,199. Mar. 1925. 321.8 H12.

The handicaps of rural women and how they may be overcome.

Unsigned

Are you glad you went to farming? Over one hundred men and women who have tried it answer the question. Wallaces' Farmer 52(49):1597, 1604. Dec. 9, 1927. 6 W15.

Contains the prize-winning letters in a contest conducted by Wallaces' Farmer. "...in the minds of most of the people who have written letters ... there remain firm convictions about the desirability of country life and work. They are farming because they like it; because they believe it is still the best place to live."

Additional letters are published in Wallaces' Farmer 52(50):1631. Dec. 16, 1927.

Are you living or merely existing? Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.] 43:45. Mar. 1923. 80 C832.

Urges city dwellers to "come out into the country, where one has the opportunity to do more than merely exist," and enumerates the advantages of living in the country.

"Back to the farm," said the Indiana 4-H'er who heeded the city's call. Bur. Farmer 4(12):11. Aug. 1929. 280.82 B89

City versus country. Farmer's Advocate and Home Mag. 63:346. Mar. 1, 1923. 7 F22.

Country child's handicap. Lit. Digest 70(8):29-30. Aug. 20, 1921.

According to an article in the Tribune, Prof. Mabel Carney of Columbia University has found, after a survey, that "the country child receives only half the educational facilities afforded the city child, and, in fact, his struggle for the good things of life, even for mere existence, is so unequal as to demand the serious attention of sociologists."

Disadvantages of rural life. Farmer's Advocate and Home Mag. 61:644. Apr. 29, 1926. 7 F22.

This article consists of the three prize-winning essays in a contest among the Women's Institutes of South Simcoe [Canada]. Titles of the articles are Diagnosis Comes First; Community Centre is Solution; Scarcity of Labor.

Do city people appreciate the advantages of country life? Bur.
Farmer 4(2):13. Oct. 1928. 280.82 B89.

Farm clouds have their silver lining. Farmer's Advocate and Home Mag. 66:229. Feb. 19, 1931. 7 F22.
How farm women value farm life.

Golden age of country living. Country Life [Garden City, N. Y.]
44:46. May, 1923. 80 C832.

Advantages of living in the country.

Literature and fresh air. Nation 126:478. Apr. 25, 1928.

An editorial on opinions of some English authors as to the relative merits of city and country life for writers.

My opinion of country life. By a farmer with city experience.
Farmer's Advocate and Home Mag. 59:41,71. Jan. 10, 1924. 7 F22

A Canadian farmer compares country life with city life, to the advantage of the former.

Town or country. Nation 113:439-440. Oct. 19, 1921.

The writer "makes his home in the city not because it is the dwelling-place of writers but because it is the hearth of life."

Why I like to live in the country. Winners selected from nearly 3000 essays submitted in The Country Gentleman contest. Country Gent. 90(11):19, 24. Mar. 14, 1925. 6 C833.

Bibliographies Suggested as Sources of Additional Material

Bercaw, L. O.

Rural standards of living; a selected bibliography. U. S. Dept. Agr. Misc. Pub. 116, 84p. July, 1931.

Bordwell, C. C.

Rural life in American literature, 1921-1926; a contribution to a bibliography. 13p. Madison Library School, University of Wisconsin. June, 1926. typewritten.

"Submitted as one of the requirements for the diploma of the Library School of the University of Wisconsin."

Supplements the bibliography by Miss Haxby.

Colvin, E. M.

Agricultural relief; a selected and annotated bibliography. U. S. Dept. Agr., Bur. Agr. Econ., Agr. Econ. Bibliog. 27, 52p. June, 1929. Mimeographed.

Edwards, E. E.

Agriculture in the life of the nation; a list of selected references. 8p. U. S. Dept. Agr., Bur. Agr. Econ. Issued Aug. 1, 1930; rev. Mar. 1, 1931. Mimeographed.

Haxby, A. C.

Rural life in American literature; a contribution to a bibliography. 12p. [Madison] Library School; University of Wisconsin, June, 1921. Typewritten.

Lacy, M. G.

A beginning of a bibliography of the literature of rural life. U. S. Dept. Agr., Bur. Agr. Econ., Agr. Econ. Bibliog. 3, 20p. Issued Nov. 1924; reprinted Mar. 1925. Mimeographed.

Lingenfelter, M. R., and Hanson, M. A.

Vocations in fiction; an annotated bibliography. 100p. Chicago, American Library Association. 1932. Mimeographed.

Farmer, items 137-164. This list will be of interest in that both sides of farm life are presented.

AGRICULTURAL ECONOMICS BIBLIOGRAPHIES

- No. 1. Agricultural economics; a selected list of references. January, 1925. Revised September, 1927; February, 1929; April, 1930.
- No. 2. Flour milling and bread making; selected list of references. February, 1925. Revised June, 1927; April, 1931.
- No. 3. A beginning of a bibliography of the literature of rural life. March, 1925.
- No. 4. Price spreads; a selected list of references relating to analyses of the portion of the consumer's price accruing to various agencies. March, 1925.
- No. 5. Long-time agricultural programs in the United States - national, regional, and state. June, 1925.
- No. 6. Aids to writer and editors; a selected list of books on the preparation of manuscripts and the mechanics of writing, for use in the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. June, 1925.
- No. 7. Livestock financing; a selected list of references relating to the financing of the livestock industry in the United States. September, 1925. Supply exhausted.
- No. 8. The peach industry in the United States; a selected list of references on the economic aspects of the industry including some references relating to Canada. October, 1925.
- No. 9. Selected list of references on grain sorghums, grass sorghums, and broom corn. December, 1925.
- No. 10. Research in rural economics and rural sociology in the southern states since 1920; a list of the published, unpublished, and current studies. January, 1926.
- No. 11. Economic periodicals of foreign countries published in the English language; a selected list. February, 1926. Revised March, 1930.
- No. 12. Government control of export and import in foreign countries. February, 1926.
- No. 13. Cooperative marketing of tobacco; a selected list of references. February, 1926. Supply exhausted.
- No. 14. Factors affecting prices; a selected bibliography, including some references on the theory and practice of price analysis. March, 1926.

- No. 15. Alabama; an index to the state official sources of agricultural statistics. March, 1926.
- No. 16. Periodicals relating to dairying received in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. June, 1926.
- No. 17. Farm youth; a selected list of references to literature issued since January, 1920. October, 1926.
- No. 18. Price fixing by governments 424 B.C. - 1926 A.D.; a selected bibliography, including some references on the principles of price fixing, and on price fixing by private organizations. October, 1926. Supply exhausted.
- No. 19. The apple industry in the United States; a selected list of references on the economic aspects of the industry together with some references on varieties. June, 1927.
- No. 20. Bounties on agricultural products; a selected bibliography. July, 1927. Supply exhausted.
- No. 21. Oklahoma; an index to the state official sources of agricultural statistics... including a list of the unofficial sources of Oklahoma agricultural statistics. August, 1927.
- No. 22. A list of international organizations interested in agriculture. November, 1927.
- No. 23. Control of production of agricultural products by governments; a selected bibliography. December, 1927.
- No. 24. The poultry industry; a selected list of references on the economic aspects of the industry, 1920-1927. February, 1928.
- No. 25. Taxation and the farmer; a selected and annotated bibliography. June, 1928.
- No. 26. Labor requirements of farm products in the United States. April, 1929.
- No. 27. Agricultural relief; a selected and annotated bibliography. June, 1929.
- No. 28. The strawberry industry in the United States; a selected list of references on the economic aspects of the industry. September, 1929.
- No. 29. Valuation of real estate, with special reference to farm real estate. November, 1929.

- No. 30. Large scale and corporation farming; a selected list of references, November, 1929.
- No. 31. California; an index to the state sources of agricultural statistics. Part I.- Fruits, vegetables and nuts; an index to the official sources. Sections 1 and 2. January, 1930; Part II.- Crops other than fruits, vegetables and nuts; an index to the official sources. June, 1930; Part III.- Livestock and livestock products; an index to the official sources. January, 1931; Part IV.- Land, farm property, irrigation, and miscellaneous items; an index to the official sources. April, 1931; Part V.- An index to some unofficial sources. February, 1930.
- No. 32. Rural standards of living; a selected bibliography. August, 1930. Superseded by Miscellaneous Publication 116.
- No. 33. Wheat; cost of production, 1923-1930. References relating to the United States and some foreign countries. January, 1931.
- No. 34. Business and banking periodicals reviewing the business situation. August, 1931.
- No. 35. Switzerland; a guide to official statistics on agriculture, population and food supply. March, 1932.
- No. 36. The grape industry; a selected list of references on the economic aspects of the industry in the United States, 1920-1931. March, 1932.
- No. 37. Advantages and disadvantages of country life. May, 1932.

